The Santa Clara County Tuberculosis Prevention Partnership is hoping local artists in area schools can help them increase awareness of the disease and help stop its spread.

Artists are asked to design a poster around the theme "Stop Tuberculosis in My Lifetime" in a way that is "positive, encouraging and original."

Grand prizes of $300 will be offered to students in grades 1-8 and to students in high school and community college. An additional prize of $300 will go to the winning students' school art departments.

A second-place prize at both class levels is $200, with another $200 going to the winning students' school art departments.

The contest, which has an April 30 deadline, is sponsored by Breathe California, RESULTS Educational Foundation and Qiagen Pharmaceuticals.

For an entry form and rules, visit lungsrus.org.

Winning posters will be displayed in various locations around Silicon Valley.
